California Love_
Some find it easy to overlook California. It is somehow familiar. It may not feel as exotic as other wine-producing areas. It's too 'mainstream'.

In the constant search for then next new and exciting 'thing' we often miss what is happening right in our own backyard. There are passionate wine men and women that push the boundaries of what some believe California to be. There is history and there are those who pull from that history to create their own places within it. You will find both here for your enjoyment.
